The West Side Story Experience The Clore Ballroom Royal Festival Hall Sunday 10 January 2010

Get beneath the skin of Bernstein's classic work, West Side Story. This third event in the series features some of the most loved songs from West Side Story, with an opportunity to observe a masterclass for advanced vocalists led by Voicelab's Mary King, as well as taking part yourself or just listening in! It also includes a performance by the London Saxophone Choir, part of The Bernstein Project's Making Music series, who will perform Somewhere as part of their set.

11am - Watch the advanced singers masterclass live on The Clore Ballroom's giant screen.

1pm - London Saxophone Choir in concert.

2pm - As the masterclass continues, there's also the chance for you to learn some of the ensemble material - Tonight (all males) and I Feel Pretty (all females). All confident singers are welcome to take part. It's advised that you familiarise yourself with the material in advance.

5pm - Final performance event.

London's Winter Wanders.

There are over 30 walks to choose from along the Mayor's 350 mile Strategic Walk Network for London, funded by Transport for London.

With two years to go to London 2012, look out for special walks 'Walking towards the Games'.

Find your walk at <http://www.freelondonevents.co.uk> for start times and locations.

We wish you a very happy new walking year.
